Pressure Will Be Placed on Nationalists

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today that if the United States could get a cease fire in the Quemoy-Matsu area an opportunity would be opened up to negotiate in good faith for a Formosa settlement.

Eisenhower told a news conference that the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu, near the Communist mainland, are not vital to the defense of Formosa. But he said he did not know lands would offer a solution on which everybody could agree.

A few hours before Eisenhower discussed the situation, President Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa took sharp issue with statements by Secretary of State Dulles at a news conference Tuesday. Chiang declared emphatically that he has no intention of weakening the defenses of Quemoy and Matsu.

Dulles said the large Nationalist forces on the offshore islands should be cut back if there was a cease-fire and he also said that he sets no prospect of Chiang returning to the China mainland, leading an anti-Communist liberation force—unless there is a revolution against the Reds first. Chiang expressed incredulity at some of Dulles' remarks.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to put heavy pressure on Nationalist China to pull back forces from the offshore islands near Communist territory—if it can get the Reds to accept a cease-fire in the Formosa area.

The line taken by Secretary of State Dulles at a news conference Tuesday strongly indicated that the Eisenhower administration intends to exert much greater and more restrictive influence on the Nationalists than before.

Negro Found Guilty in Hamm Death

PEWASKANA, Ark. (AP)—Roger Boone, 26-year-old, Miller County Negro, has been convicted of first degree murder in the robbery-slaying of an elderly white man.

A Miller Circuit Court jury imposed the death penalty on Boone after deliberating for 3½ hours yesterday.

Formal sentence will be handed down later.

Boone is one of four Negroes charged in the death of M. R. Hamm, 71, a retired farmer, whose body was found near Texarkana May 15, 1956.

The four also are accused of robbing Hamm of $10. They were tried together previously and all sentenced to death. On appeal the Arkansas Supreme Court set aside the death sentences and granted new trials. The defendants then chose to be tried separately.

James Moore, 21, first to be tried, was given a death sentence. The other two Negroes, James Boyd and Willie Boyd, are awaiting trial.

Harold Flowers, Negro, of Pine Bluff, attorney for the four men, says he intends to appeal Moore's conviction.

Fair Weather Is Needed for Crops

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Fair weather is needed for maturing and harvesting cotton, rice, soybeans, corn and sorghum grain, the federal-state Crop Reporting Service said today.

The agency's weekly bulletin said recent heavy rains had slowed the opening of cotton, impaired the quality of that which was open and caused considerable boll rot.

It added, however, that continued sunshine would cause cotton to open rapidly and that picking soon will be in full swing.

The outlook for late soybeans is better than earlier in the season, the service said.

Much of the rice crop is late and the bulletin warned, could be damaged heavily by an early frost.

Appeal Made for School Contributions

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock Private School, Corp., appealed today for public contributions, in money and buildings, to operate the high schools as private, segregated institutions.

Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the corporation, announced the new plan at a news conference.

He said a "study and survey of buildings and facilities" already is under way. Raney said the new "the court enjoins our use of the school building leased from the Little Rock School District, we will immediately begin school in other quarters," Raney said.

Raney named President Eisenhower as one of those who is "leading our nation to destruction."

Students Go to Episcopal Academy

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Twenty-eight students from Little Rock's Hall and Central High Schools today attended the second day of classes at the new Trinity Interim Academy, a stopgap school for Episcopal children.

The students, whose high schools were among four closed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the integration controversy, put in a full day's work.

Classes started yesterday at the parish hall of Trinity Episcopal Cathedral.

Each student pays $9 per month for tuition and takes four subjects. The curriculum includes Latin, French, English, Spanish, mathematics, science and history. Sophomores, juniors and seniors are enrolled. The school day opens at 8:45 with 15 minutes of prayers and lasts until 3 p. m.

The school is sponsored by the Vestry of Trinity Cathedral and a special 11-member board appointed by the vestry.

The Rev. Wade Wright Elbert is director of studies. He is assisted by a faculty of eight.

The Rev. Mr. Egbert, who also is assistant dean at Trinity, said the school probably would close "when the public schools open again." Asked what would happen if the city's high schools opened as private institutions, he said "we haven't considered that."

THUMBS DOWN — Students of Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., Lannie Wilson, Darrell Young, Dickie Mehon, and Dan Weil, left to right, give "thumbs down" signal to the "Closed by Federal Government" sign on the front lawn of Central High School. Similar signs were nailed on trees at other closed schools apparently by the group that planned to open the schools as private institutions. All parties concerned, the NAACP, the Little Rock school board, and the private corporation have denied putting up the signs. Dr. T. J. Raney of the private school corporation said he blamed the government and the NAACP for not being able to open Little Rock's schools. — NEA Telephone

Automotive Settlement Not in Sight

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers struggled today to break their contract negotiations deadlock on the eve of the union's threatened strike at General Motors Corp.

The UAW has set a General Motors strike for 11 a.m. Thursday unless a contract is reached before then for GM's 250,000 workers. More negotiations were on tap today.

The nearly nightlong Chrysler talks were adjourned about 3 a.m. The Chrysler talks, reportedly shaggy on issues of seniority and salaried employees' pay, went into pre-dawn hours for a second successive day.

Neither Walter Reuther, the union president, nor Chrysler's Vice President John D. Leary, chief company bargainer, attended the owl-hour discussions.

Reuther moved into the GM talks Tuesday hours after failing to settle at Chrysler.

At the time he expressed confidence of a quick Chrysler settlement, but Leary later did not join him in this.

The contract drive for Chrysler's 70,000 workers followed the union's agreement with Ford. This included a three-year contract with improved layoff pay, a new provision for severance pay, and continued cost of living and productivity wage increases.

Ford and the UAW reached agreement Sept. 17, shortly after 90,000 Ford workers went on strike across the country. The settlement was estimated at 24 to 30 cents an hour per worker over three years.

The average hourly wage for auto workers as a whole under old contracts was about $2.43.

Sam Womack, 80, Retired Postal Employee, Dies

Sam H. Womack, aged 80, died at his home early today. He was a retired postal employee and had lived here 42 years. He was a member of the W.O.W. and the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include two sons, Virgil W. of Chicago and Leland H. Womack of Hope, a sister, Mrs. John Parker of Hobbs, N.M.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Oakcrest Mortuary Chapel by the Rev. Rufus Sorrells, assisted by Dr. John McClanahan. Burial by Oakcrest will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Youth Injured Fatally Tuesday

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A 24-year-old boy was injured fatally near Jacksonville yesterday when he fell from an automobile in which he was riding with seven other persons.

Dead is Julius Lamar Smith of Jacksonville.

State Trooper Sam Garrett said he fell from the car on U.S. Highway 57 when a rear door came open. The boy was dead on arrival at a Jacksonville hospital.

He had been sitting in the rear seat beside his mother, Mrs. Urna Jean Smith, who was holding a baby. The car was driven by Andrew Padden of near Jacksonville.

Winterlike Weather Grooms October 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first day of October felt like winter across broad areas of the country from east of the Rockies today.

A huge mass of cold air from Canada dominated the mid-continent. Brisk winds spread the chilly air south and eastward and the touch of wintry weather was felt in most areas to the Atlantic Coast.

Topcates and blankets were recommended for fans going to the first World Series game in Milwaukee. Temperatures in the low 50s were forecast. The mercury tumbled to near freezing this morning.

The leading edge of cool air reached into western sections of the Atlantic Coast states and northern parts of the Gulf Coast states during the night. Preceding day after the arrival of the cold, rain fell from Texas northeastward through northern sections of the Gulf Coast states, Tennessee, into the mid-Atlantic states and southern sections of New England.

Two Escape From Alcatraz, Still Missing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The hunt for a missing Alcatraz convict went on today as the odds mounted that he, either had drowned in tide-swept San Francisco Bay or has become the first escaped prisoner to swim to the mainland.

Through the night guards combed the rocky caves of the island prison shoreline and flushed them out with tear gas bombs, but there was no sign of Aaron Walter Burgett, 28-year-old Missouri gunman.

Monday, he and another prisoner, Clyde M. Johnson, 36, a convicted bank robber from Memphis, Tenn., bound a guard while serving on a garbage detail and vanished in a fog. Two hours later Johnson was found shivering half-dead in water just off shore.

Associate Warden Joseph D. Latimer said Johnson told prison authorities he had had a plastic bag which he tried to use as a water wing but that it got away from him almost as soon as he started swimming.

Latimer said another prisoner, whom he did not name, told him Burgett also may have had such a bag, which he could have used with air and used to keep afloat on the long, chilly stretch of more than a mile to the San Francisco shore across an ebb tide which was running out the Golden Gate at nearly 10 miles an hour.

Old Group Will Try to Block Young GOPs

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Old line party members are maneuvering quickly to block any "Modern Republicanism" from capturing the GOP Senate leadership for years to come.

This is the aim of influential members who have little enthusiasm for President Eisenhower's ideas of modernizing the party viewpoint. They have laid plans they hope will accomplish this result when a new floor leader is chosen to succeed retiring Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.).

Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.), a vigorous supporter of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), probably will move into Knowland's command position without challenge. All-out Eisenhower supporters hoped to place one of their number in the line of succession as party whip, the post Dirksen will be vacating.

However, Chairman Styles Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee is expected to propose that the leadership base be broadened by the addition of an assistant leader, as well as the whip.

While Bridges is not talking about who might fill such an assistant's post, there was immediate speculation it would go to one of the conservative Republicans. In this connection, the names of Senators John W. Bricker of Ohio, Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska were mentioned among others.

Traditionally, the Senate Republicans have picked their floor leaders by promotion.

If the leadership base is expanded, there is some expectation that a modern Republican might get the whip assignment in the interests of outward party harmony. But his chance at the top job would be lessened because of the intervening assistant leadership.

Ike Urges Compliance to Integration Order; Board to Try New Plan

Private Group Promises New Segregation Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Little Rock Private School unveiled a plan today to operate the high schools as private, segregated institutions, using public contributions in money and buildings.

Dr. T. J. Raney, corporation president, made the announcement. "We ask that any person or group who owns an available building which might be used for classroom purposes call at our office," Raney said in a prepared statement. "Any contributions should be directed to our private school corporation."

The cost of operating the four high schools, on the present basis, is $19,000 a week. School of Schools Virgil Blossom said.

In his statement, Raney said President Eisenhower is among those who are "leading our nation to destruction" through their stand on integrating the schools.

Raney simply handed reporters the statement. "There will be no questions," he said, and refused those who asked.

He left the room without answering any questions.

Raney noted that the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals is scheduled to decide next Monday whether to continue the restraining order, issued in Omaha two days ago.

"If the court enjoins our use of the high school buildings, we will immediately begin school in other quarters," the statement said.

Along with the task of acquiring from private sources the money and buildings to operate the schools, the corporation faces perhaps a more serious difficulty—the Little Rock high school teachers.

"They have been advised by their attorneys not to work for the private corporation so long as it is under the court's restraining order," Attorney Bruce Bullion said they agreed unanimously to comply with the court order.

Raney's statement read: "Next Monday, the 8th circuit court of appeals will decide whether the injunction issued against the Little Rock Private School corporation is to be continued in effect. Pending that decision, we will conduct a survey of facilities and buildings which will be available for use in operating private, segregated schools."

"Then, if the court enjoins our use of the high school buildings, leased from the Little Rock school district, we will immediately begin school in other quarters."

"In addition to this preparatory work, we are studying several plans for public appeals for funds to meet the cost of operating the schools."

"We firmly believe that any interference with our lease of the high school buildings by the federal government is illegal and contrary to the rights of ownership over their properties."

"The right of ownership is a precious thing, and certainly no one can argue that the leasing of a building for a school is an unlawful act."

Thus the crisis of state's rights (of which integration of the public schools is but a facet) is brought into sharper focus. Federal government officials, from the president on down, who are working with the NAACP in this program, must somehow be made to understand that the course they have chosen is leading our nation to destruction.

"We have chosen our course and as long as the people of Little Rock and our public officials give us their support, there will be no turning back. Let us hold our heads high and continue to be proud of our cause and our determination to save our nation and its 49 independent state governments."

"We ask that any person or group who owns an available building which might be used for classroom purposes call at our office at 922 Marshall. Any contributions should be directed to the Little Rock Private School Corporation Trust Department, First National Bank of Little Rock."

The private group sought to open the schools yesterday. But they did not do so after receiving court orders nullifying a lease of school properties by the corporation.

Meanwhile, State Education Commissioner Arch Ford issued orders yesterday that all school buildings be closed.

State Revenue Collection Up $120,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Revenue Department collections were up $120,000 in September compared to the same period a year ago.

Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney announced yesterday that the overall collection figure for September was $3,006,400.90. This included $3,022,407.88 in special revenue collections and $8,284,000.02 in general revenue collections.

September's three per cent sales tax collections totaled $1,401,187.45 or $170,000 above the amount collected in September, 1957.

However, income tax collections dropped $102,138 compared to the same month last year. Total for the past September was $413,734.66 while a year ago it was $595,873.17.

Cheney attributed the drop mainly to corporation returns. He said the business recession was reflected in the slump.

The Revenue Department collection was part of the overall $20,084,000.01 taken in by the state treasury in September. That total included federal grants and money collected outside of the Revenue Department.

Red China, and the Soviet Union which supports it, the prospects of a deal to pacify the Formosa area. The first U.S. requirement would be an end to the present heavy communist artillery attacks on the island of Quemoy.

Officials were hopeful that his emphasis on possible major policy changes to bring peace to the region would win greater support for the government's Formosa policy at home and abroad.

He reiterated the U.S. determination not to retreat under fire, but talked mostly about arrangements that might be made if the present limited combat could be stopped.

Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek has stated his determination to hold on to the offshore islands and to defend them. Dulles said that the Nationalists do not always accept U.S. views "and we don't accept their views in all respects."

But he added that "I think that if it ever came down to a point where it was important practically to get a cease-fire agreement and the Nationalist forces on the offshore islands, 'we would find a way to agree—at least I hope so.'"

Dulles' talk about future possibilities covered three main points. He said:

1. The Chinese Nationalists as well as the Chinese Communists should agree to a renunciation of the use of force in their dispute of the mainland.

2. The Nationalists could not return to the mainland "by their own steam" and the United States has no commitment of any kind to add them to return. He was not even sure that Chiang would again be a leader on the mainland even if a revolution against the Communist regime were successful.

3. The United States considered it foolish for the Nationalist government to put into the offshore islands as many troops as it now has there. Those are estimated to total well over 100,000. If a cease-fire could be arranged, Dulles went on, "it would be our judgment, military judgment, even that it would not be wise or prudent to keep them there."

Presumably possibilities of taking measures along the lines Dulles discussed have been presented to the Chinese Communists directly by the ambassadorial talks at Warsaw. U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red Chinese envoy Wang Ping-nan met there again Tuesday for almost three hours. They scheduled another session Saturday but made no public report on their talks.

Presbyterian Bible Class
Holds Monthly Supper

The men of the First Presbyterian Bible Class assembled in the basement of the church Wednesday night for a supper and program. The meeting was opened by an invocation by J. H. Robertson, minister, and a delicious plate was served by T. E. Logan, O. W. Watkins and W. F. Dickinson. Mrs. Dickinson assisted in preparing the food.

The meeting was called to order by Jim Morris, president of the class. J. H. Nelson delivered the devotional with appropriate comments. Randolph Hamby, chairman of the program committee, introduced W. J. (Bill) Oates, who selected as his subject "Brotherhood of Men." He stressed the law of the ten commandments, a law that has never been changed and the golden rule as a guide to promote law, peace and harmony. The meeting was closed with prayer by Chas. Thompson.

BWC Meets With Mrs. McClelland
The Business Women's Circle of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Morrison McClelland for the September meeting with 12 members present. Local arrangements of roses decorated the room.

Mrs. L. L. Buchanan, president, presided and called the meeting to order with prayer. After the opening song, Mrs. Edward Bryson presented the program on "State Missions" in observance of the season of prayer for State Missions.

During the business session, Mrs. Leroy Phillips presented the following slate of officers that was accepted: President, Miss Mary Poole; vice president, Mrs. A. S. Buchanan; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Edward Bryson; flower chairman, Mrs. J. R. Shipp; prayer chairman, Mrs. Thomas Lynn; mission study, Mrs. L. L. Buchanan; youth director, Mrs. Thel Hanning; social chairman, Mrs. Leroy Phillips.

A dessert course was served by the hostess.

Ruth Class Installs Officers
The Ruth Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Howard Graham for the installation of officers. The room was decorated with fall blossoms placed at points of vantage. The following officers were installed in an impressive service by Mrs. Watson Buchanan, President:

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Davis and Mrs. Floyd Leverett and Amelia of Hope have returned from Houston where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis and Jeffrey.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Daniel and Miss Mattie Jean Atkinson returned Friday from Little Rock where they attended a Farmer's Home Administration area conference.

CITY SAFE
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Before leaving his burning Navy jet plane, Lt. John Patrick, 28, tried to head it away from populated areas. He was 1000 feet above San Diego and the city looked "awful big" as he left.

However, the jet cleared the area and crashed in a canyon. It landed undamaged on a traffic area.

Private Group

ed his department has cut off state aid to the Little Rock School District.

The Department withheld the funds, he said, pending outcome of a federal court hearing next Monday on a temporary injunction to keep the school board from leasing the four high schools to the private group. Withholding of funds from the district is required by the court closing law under which Faubus shut down the high schools.

The restraining order blocked plans to open the four high schools to their approximate 3,500 students yesterday. Two judges of the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals issued the order at Omaha Monday.

The judges, joined by a third, will decide on whether to issue a temporary injunction — next step after a restraining order — next Monday.

Judge M. M. Matthes of the circuit court said the three probably will pass on whether a three-judge court is necessary to rule on legality of the private school plan. Next, he said, the validity of the Arkansas law permitting the leasing of the schools must be determined.

Dr. Raney yesterday officially announced the schools would not open because of the restraining order.

But he said, "We are far from finished. We can't give up."

Speculation here was that the private corporation might seek to hold classes in churches and public buildings.

Where financial support could be found without violating court rulings was not immediately apparent.

Faubus, who fathered the Arkansas private school plan, declared "a way will be found" to open the schools without mixing the races.

The public school board officially kept a hands-off policy. It took the attitude that the schools are closed by proclamation of the governor and that he had legal grounds for his action.

Faubus closed the schools even before they opened 18 days ago because, he said, he feared new violence if integration continued at Central High School.

The federal government increased its staff of deputy and special marshals in Little Rock from about 30 to about 60. Earlier, as many as 170 had gathered here, presumably to carry out court integration orders.

U. S. Marshal R. Beal Kidd said some of the 170 were rotated home, but declined to give a reason for the buildup this week.

The marshals have served about 180 persons with the temporary restraining order nullifying the private lease arrangement. Those served included the school board members, private school board officials, state authorities and staffs and teachers.

of the high schools.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Parents and pupils in Little Rock awaited word today of a promised new plan to get the city's four high schools opened on a segregated basis.

"We are at the end of the line," But Dr. T. J. Raney, head of the corporation, said a new plan would be announced today. He declined to reveal its nature.

Faubus, who closed the schools Sept. 12 pending a vote on integration, said "a way will be found" and urged the people to stand firm in the fight to maintain segregation. A referendum Saturday revealed 72 per cent of the voters backing separate schools for Negroes and white pupils.

More than 70 high school teachers agreed unanimously to comply with the court order blocking the private school measure. Their lawyers had advised them that they are still under contract to the School Board and not to the private corporation.

The board leased the buildings to the corporation, but the Court of Appeals at Omaha directed it to retain control until a three-judge panel hears the case in St. Louis Monday.

Almond's statement about reopening the nine Virginia schools, all shut down by the governor after being ordered by federal judges to admit Negroes, came at a news conference.

At almost the same time, the governor got a request from the Norfolk City Council that he reopen six schools here and operate them on a segregated basis under the police power of the state.

The Council acted under Virginia's massive resistance laws, which require the governor to take the action if the city declares an emergency and makes the request.

Almond would not comment on the Norfolk action, and he refused to say what move he would make toward getting the schools open again.

More than 10,000 pupils are affected by the school closings in Little Rock and Virginia.

Van Buren Petition Protests Integration

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP) — A member of the Crawford County Citizens Council says about 1,000 signatures have been obtained on a petition protesting integration at Van Buren High School.

Rev. Grady Williams, an evangelist, said last night that he petition would be presented to the city school board soon. Van Buren has a population of about 7,000.

Eight Negroes are attending the high school, scene of a boycott against integration several weeks ago.

Sam Cox Jr., president of the Citizens Council, said Eugene and Gene Mathews, twins suspended from the school for insubordination, had been reinstated in their classes.

The boys were suspended in an incident following a report by one of them that a Negro student, Nathaniel Norwood, spat on him. Norwood denied the accusation.

The white boys were suspended for refusal to return to classes when ordered to do so.

Man Killed in Auto Accident

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — An automobile overturned in a ditch alongside U. S. Highway 167 north of here early today, killing the driver who was traveling alone.

Deputy Sheriff Grady Purdie said the victim, L. C. Franks, 33, apparently went to sleep at the wheel. The accident was discussed by the school closings in Little Rock and Virginia.

covered by a passing truck driver. The deputy said Franks had left the warehouse of the appliance firm he managed here about midnight. He had spent the evening taking inventory.

His wrecked car was found about an hour and a half later, 3 miles from El Dorado. Franks is survived by his wife and two young sons.

Poses Question of Prolonging Hopeless Life

By BELLOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Should a physician prolong the life of a hopelessly ill and dying patient? A specialist doctor has given an emphatic "no" to this delicate and profound question of medical ethics. His arguments in favor of bowing to "nature's wisdom" are now being circulated throughout the medical profession.

Physicians generally feel their obligation is to life, even if it's a mere thread of life that's frayed almost to the breaking point. To this concept, Dr. Martin Donelson Jr. of Danville, Va., replies that "life is indeed sacred but not sacrosanct to the point of inflicting costly and painful indignities on someone who has earned his repose."

On Golden Rule

He spoke only of dying persons whom physicians keep "in vegetative existence by artificial means." He had observed "competent and conscientious physicians preserve life for weeks and months in cases, with stupor and even coma, in patients who would

Adlai Sees No Value in Quemoy, Matsu

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson says the fight over Quemoy and Matsu is a continuation of China's civil war and the United States has no business butting in.

Stevenson, who recently returned from extensive travels abroad, said the U.S. policy in China commands little respect or support in the world.

"It should be reconsidered and restated without delay," he told a $100-a-plate Democratic rally Tuesday night.

The Democratic party's twice defeated presidential candidate outlined a four-point program of his own for easing tension in the Formosa Strait.

The program calls for a cease-have quietly expired in a day or so if left mercifully alone."

Donelson based himself morally upon the Golden Rule and upon a portion of the Hippocratic Oath which all physicians take and of which is the keystone of medical ethics. He quoted this portion: "I will follow that method of treatment which, according to my ability and judgment, I consider for the benefit of my patients and abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous."

First Game of World Series Gets Underway

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Two of baseball's greatest left-handers, Milwaukee's Warren Spahn and New York's Whitey Ford, were expected to make the opener of the 1959 World Series a sizzling pitchers' duel today.

Despite the fact that the Series was opening in Milwaukee and Ford had not won a single of his five Series triumphs away from Yankee Stadium, the Yankees ruled 5-4 to win the first game and 7-5 to capture the Series.

Precedent was against the Braves. No National League champion has been able to win two October classics in succession since the New York Giants whipped Miller Huggins' Yankees in 1921 and 1922.

Since then the Yankees have won 17 world championships in 21 tries. They bowed to the Braves, however, in the last one, in seven games.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, still smarting from that loss, blamed it on some bum advice he had received from National League friends. He vowed this time to follow his own judgment.

"Them fellows sure gave me a bum steer," he said Tuesday night. "They told me (Eddie) Mathews couldn't field and that he was just a fair runner. They said (Lew) Burdette couldn't beat us. Well, you know what Lew did against us last year and he won 20 games this year."

He said, "This time I'm going to use my own judgment. I got some ideas of my own. If I'm going to lose I might as well blame myself, not anybody else. But I don't expect to lose. I did enough losing to those guys last year."

Stengel didn't disclose his ideas, but he notified reporters his lineup would be:

Bauer, rf; McDougald, 2b; Man, 3b; Howard, lf; Berra, c; Skovron, 1b; Carey, 3b; Kubek, ss; Ford, p.

Hope Tangles With Stout Texarkana Team Friday

Hope's Bobcats take on the powerful Texarkana Razorbacks of the Big 9 Conference here Friday night in Hannum's Stadium in a non-conference contest.

Although unimportant as far as district standings are concerned, the game, nevertheless, is all-important in prestige. Hope hasn't been defeated while Texarkana has lost only to the Texarkana Tigers.

Little Rock sports writers, always protective of their Big 9 teams, hastened to dub Hope as the lopsided favorite thus giving the Texarkana team some psychological boost right at the start.

But from about any way you look at it the game should be rated a tossup. The Razorbacks have nothing to be ashamed of in the loss to the ever-powerful Tigers.

And Porker fans would readily tell you they have the best team in years. Certainly they have the fastest backfield and one of the best lines the Bobcats have faced all year.

On the other hand Hope certainly has one of its best teams in

Casey Sees This as a Hurler Series

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees figures the 1959 World Series which opens here today will be a pitchers' series.

"That Spahn wins 20 games for nine years," said Casey, "and who's going to tell me how to beat him? Who knows how?"

"A man wins 20 for nine years has to be a great pitcher and one who knows how to pitch to right-handers and left-handers. So what good is it if you put in all right-handed batters against him or not?"

Warren Spahn, the Braves' ace who won 22 this season, matching Pittsburgh's Bob Feller for the National League high, was the Milwaukee starter today. Whitey Ford (14-7) was Stengel's choice, making it an all-southpaw opener. Lew Burdette will start for the Braves in the second game.

"Take Burdette," Stengel said. "He makes everybody but the manager wrong because he wins 20 games over in that league this year, and he's only lost three since the All-Star Game."

"A lotta people tell you Burdette wasn't really a great pitcher and the way to beat him is don't put any left-handers against him. But his manager pitches him three times in the last Series, and who is it who beats us? Burdette. Beats us three times and we get beat."

"All those people tell me how Burdette can be beat, but I notice nobody's been able to do it yet over in that league."

Stengel then touched on his Yankees.

"We won the pennant because early in the season we got some rain and you think that might hurt us—but it helps us because I can pitch my two best, Ford and Turley, in almost all of those early games."

"And while I'm at it, Turley is my pitcher tomorrow in the second game. He won 21 for us, and he was great."

Bob Turley, a right-hander, was the only consistent pitcher the Yankees had and he went into a late slump. Whitey Ford began strong but of late has been hampered by a sore elbow.

Lost Pilot Has Been Identified

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—The pilot who landed his small plane near here yesterday after being lost for some 2 1/2 hours has been identified as Tyson Taylor of Grand Prairie, Tex.

Taylor was not injured and his plane was not damaged.

Air traffic in and out of Little Rock's Adams Field was halted until Taylor landed safely in a pasture.

He had radioed that he was lost because of poor visibility.

Farm Prices Are Showing Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm product prices increased about 2 per cent during the month ended Sept. 15.

This upturn halted a four-month decline in the Agriculture Department's index.

Primarily responsible for the increase were record high prices for grapefruit, near record prices for oranges, and increases for beef cattle, eggs, milk and cotton. Partially offsetting were lower prices for hogs, chickens and corn.

The mid-September level was nearly 5 per cent above a year earlier but about 17 1/2 per cent below the record high set in February 1951.

A Wide Open Offense Takes Good Defense

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's all this talk about two hunch defense causing a major shift to wide open offensive alignments?

Penn State and Oregon, for a couple of teams, don't consider themselves overabundant in defensive formations. They are the ones who must defend against Army and Oklahoma this weekend, the first shot anyone has to solve the much-talked about "wide open" style.

Admittedly these boys have problems. But so do the coaches who must face the conventional modes of football attack this Saturday. That's why most college squads spent the first practice day of the week concentrating on defending for Saturday's games.

Most of the problems were in the defensive backfields after a hectic day of passing last Saturday.

Pitt, 17-0 conquerer of Holy Cross and triple threat quarterback Tom Greene, looked toward a new nemesis in Minnesota's Jim Reece.

"Reece can thread the needle," assistant coach Carl Depasquale said of his passing. The Gophers' quarterback completed 12-for-21 and 207 yards in a losing cause against Washington last Saturday.

Pitt contained Greene by having its bruising line exert continual pressure.

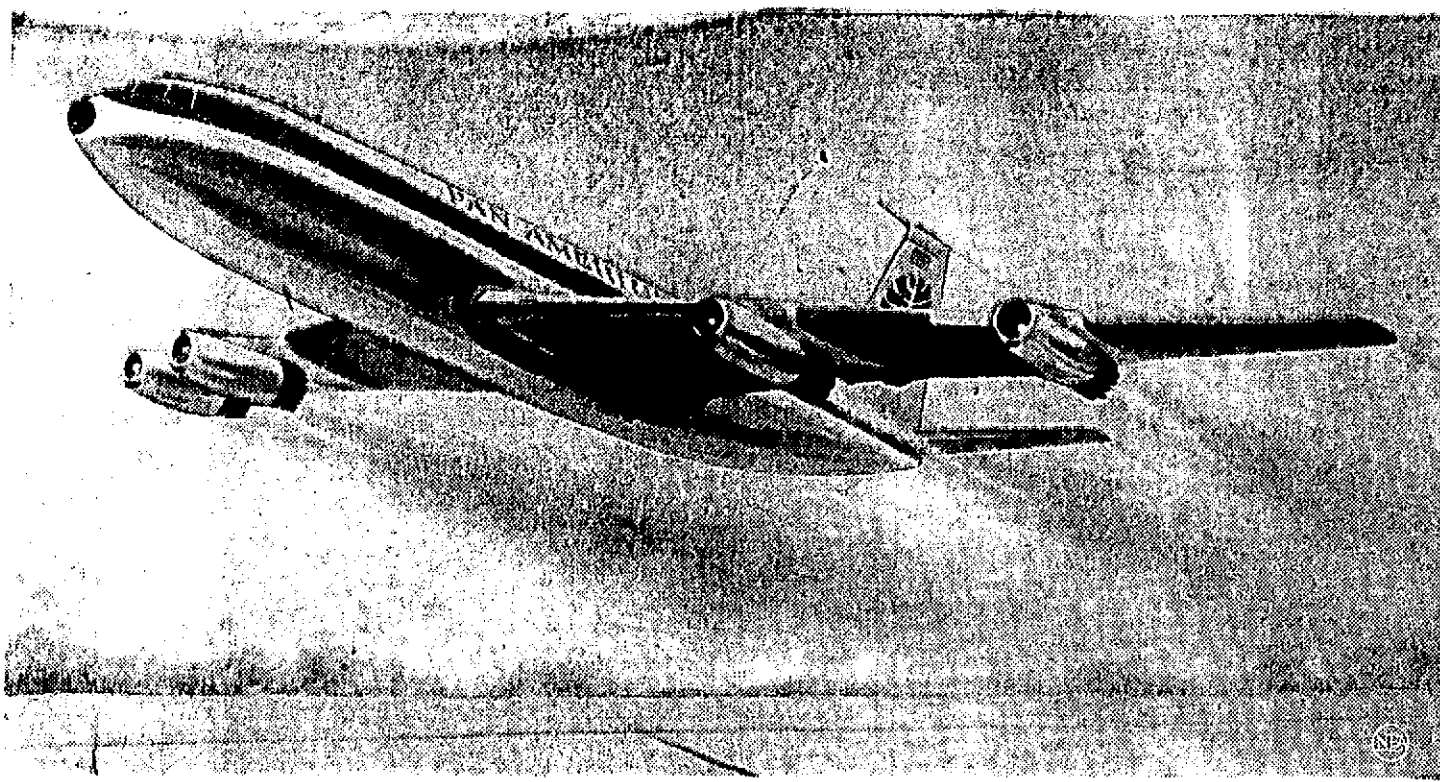

The Gophers likewise looked to the defensive hatches for its Pittsburgh victim to Washington's passing attack and must face Pitt's liveliness of Ivan Tomic and Bill Kalden.

North Carolina, highly touted in pre-season estimates, but loser of two in a row, tried to battle down its defensive hitches for its Friday night encounter with Southern California on the West Coast.

Coach Jim Tatum expected trouble from USC's ability to use the run-or-pass option play that beat Oregon State and just lost to Michigan 20-19.

Rutgers, one of the big surprises Saturday with its 28-0 beating of highly touted Princeton, posed a single wing problem for Colgate, which must also stop tailback Bill Austin.

The Rice Owls 20-7 victory over Sanford last weekend has Purdue Coach Jack Molenkopf re-arranging

NEW AGE OF AIR TRAVEL—First American jet commercial liner to go into regular service will be the Boeing 707, shown taking off in a sketch by NEA artist John Lane. Pan-American plans to start commercial jet service this fall with the 707 Jet Clipper on its New York-Paris-Rome run. The 707 started rolling off the production line in July, 1954, and has been subjected to tests ever since. It is 144 feet, 6 inches long with a wingspan of 130 feet, 10 inches. Operating at 25,000 to 40,000 feet altitude with a maximum payload of 165 passengers, the 707 will have a cruising speed of approximately 600 m.p.h., enabling it to fly to Paris from New York in six and one-half hours, cutting the time of piston-engine craft in half. Despite its size, the 707 is said to be far simpler than conventional aircraft—acronically, mechanically and from a servicing viewpoint. Four Pratt and Whitney J57 jet engines power the plane.

Storm Turns Out to Have Silver Lining

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Into each life some rain must fall" goes the old pop song. Tony Randall had his own personal storm last year, but it turned out to have a silver lining.

Tony, who first reached fame as Mister Peepers' pal on TV, is one of the funniest young actors, but he can do more than comedy. He proved that when he did the H. L. Mencken role in "Inherit the Wind," about the Scopes trial, he was brought to Hollywood by 20th Century-Fox and made a hit in the hilarious "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter." Then he was cast in a serious role with Marlon Brando and Montgomery Clift in "The Young Lions."

He was fitted for his costumes and vaccinated for the location trip to Germany. Four days before he was scheduled to leave, he was told he would not do the picture. The explanation he was given: the representative of a powerful agency went to the studio boss and said "Dean Martin must be cast in the Randall role. If not, Brando and Clift would be pulled out of 'The Young Lions.'"

Tony said the studio chief told him, "I'm sorry, but what could I do? The picture had to start in four days."

Tony was nursing "his" wounds over losing the plum role when he got an offer to "appear on Broadway in 'Oh, Captain.'" Fox gave him a leave, and he starred in the meaty part created by Alec Guinness in the film "The Captain's Paradise." For the first time, Tony got to sing and dance and was a personal hit in a hit-and-miss show.

The result: He's in even greater demand for films. His return to Hollywood casts him opposite Debbie Reynolds in "The Mating Game."

"I play a tax collector," he said drily. "We consider it a comedy role."

Lightning destroys about 20 million dollars worth of property every year in the United States. It also takes about 500 lives.

ing his defenses. The Owls ran up 412 yards, 341 on the ground. Purdue stopped Nebraska, 28-0.

Michigan faces the same kind of problem in prepping for its big game at Michigan State. The Spartans amassed 502 yards whipping California, 32-12, while the Wolverines gave USC 298 yards in winning 20-19.

Kansas solidified its defensive backfield by moving its No. 1 quarterback Bob Marshall to the left halfback spot and moving Bill Crank into the quarterback post. The Jayhawks have yet to score this season, losing 42-0 to TCU and 12-0 to Oregon State. They face Colgate this week.

One team that didn't need to work on defense was Auburn. The Nation's No. 2 team held Tennessee to a meager 30 yards overall, and didn't yield a first down in winning 13-0. They face Chattanooga this week.

In Auburn's case, maybe Red Blaik at Army and Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma do have a point about that big, bad defense.

"THIEF" AT WORK—William Crowell Jr. breaks into a parked car in Cleveland—and gets away with it. He is a legalized auto "thief" working for a company that specializes in recovering cars when owners fail to meet finance payments.

Chapter XXI

Mrs. Erwin stepped off the porch to walk toward them. They rode closer, and she said, "Irma told me to tell you to go on back to town, Tom. She didn't want to see you."

Cole was silent.

Lane said, "Irma isn't being fair, Fay. Doesn't she even want to know where we've been and what we've been doing?"

"She knows where you went, Lane. But she said if Tom was more interested in who stole one old steer on his wedding day than he was in his bride, she'd had enough. She said it gave her an idea of what to expect if she married Tom."

Lane said, "She's being unreasonably."

"You mean she don't aim to marry me at all?" Cole asked.

Mrs. Erwin said, "I think that's what she means, Tom."

Sheriff Cole sat his saddle steadily. Lane and Mrs. Erwin watching him in the moonlight, and Lane knew the lawman was fighting a battle with himself. Irma had hit him hard. Almost any man, given such a message after having been through what Cole had been through during the last couple of days, would have been tempted by resentment to head for town at a high lode. Almost any man, too, would regret losing a girl as Irma McKenzie. The way Lane saw it, she was a prize worth the swallowing of a large amount of pride for "and Tom Cole apparently felt the same way."

Fay said, "I think I can talk her out of her mad spell, Mrs. Erwin," and got down from his saddle, passing over his bride reins when Lane reached for them.

Lane rode on to the corral gate followed by the two Mexican youths who came out of the corral. He turned the horses over to them and told them to get him a dry saddle blanket and saddle up a fresh bronc. Afterward he headed for the darkened bank house, jingling his spurs at a faster pace than he usually took.

Two of the hands had already hit the hay. Lane saw when he struck a match so he left the lamps until. One of the men was Ken Webster, who said "I don't you were gone, a mighty long time. What did you find out? What did you do about the steel riding horse?"

Digging a sack of smoking out of his warbag, Lane said, "Nob, ay Ken. Told Sorenson he could have it. Called it square."

Everyone was sorry for Irma. Webster said, "First time I ever knew George Pinowal to lose his temper, and I saw him in some pretty tight spots when I was riding for him. He said Tom Cole didn't deserve Irma."

"George got it backward. Irma doesn't deserve Tom Cole. You can tell her I said so if you want to."

"Why do you say that, John?"

"Because, Tom Cole is county sheriff, Ken, and he wants to do a good job. He intends to be wherever the sheriff is needed. He'll stay with you in a pinch, too."

"He didn't do Irma right, did he, going off with you and not being here when the preacher came?"

"According to what you call right, he saved lives by going with me. Irma can stand up before the preacher with him any time."

"Just what did happen, John?"

Some of the hands said that steel bulchering was probably a trap. Didn't it look like one to you?"

Lane had laid out a clean shirt and a pair of pants. He began changing into them. "Not the way we walked into it, Ken. We found part of that beef in Sorenson's smokehouse without realizing we had entered a trap." He straightened erect, pulling deeply on his cigarette. "They took our guns away from us and gave the sheriff a lick on the head with a sun barrel that split his scalp a little, but outside of that we made it all right. I'm glad it happened."

"Why? Wasn't Sorenson angry about his son's death?"

"He was until Nels widow told him how it was."

"Well," Webster said, "I'm not sorry for him. I just hope I live to see the day I can help choose that bunch of sodbusters out of this valley. Reckon we ever will?"

"What she wants and what she gets is two different things. But I don't know what you and her will do after I leave. Ken, I've almost finished my job here. We'll finally be home tomorrow."

He found Sheriff Cole in the cookhouse, seated at the long plank table with a plate of grub and a mug of coffee before him. Getting eating tools, Lane helped himself to the leftover barbecue. Rodriguez was slung at the meat block and took a soft gaze at the table from the surreptitious lawman. "How did you make out with Irma?" he asked.

"She wouldn't talk to me. Wouldn't come out of her room. Kept her door shut."

"She'll get over it in a day or two," Lane said.

Cole shook his head and wiped his drooping mustache. They ate in silence. When Lane had finished eating and had lit a cigarette, the

Arkansas Woman Dies From Cancer

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—A 13-year-old Arkansas woman, shown here for special treatment, died yesterday of a rare type cancer. She is Mrs. Mickey Sue Hale of Stamps.

Mrs. Hale, who had fought the disease for a year, showed some improvement after arriving in mid-July at the National Health Institute, but her condition worsened over the past three weeks.

An anonymous benefactor arranged for her flight here from Texarkana, Ark., on July 16, after it became known that her family had exhausted its financial resources.

Her husband, Dale, and her mother, Mrs. Paul Cook, accompanied her here and had remained nearby.

The body will be returned to Stamps for burial.

Besides her husband and mother, Mrs. Hale is survived by a sister, Mrs. Richard Bryan, of Stamps.

Student Faces a Homicide Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A 16-year-old Central High School student faces a negligent homicide charge as a result of fatally injuring a pedestrian a week ago during a motorcade protesting integration.

The youth, Douglas E. Treadway, was released on $1,000 bond. He was charged after R. L. McGowan, 67, died at a Little Rock hospital yesterday.

A preliminary hearing for Treadway is scheduled Oct. 27. McGowan was struck as he sought to pass between two cars of a caravan made up of about 200 students and 40 cars, demonstrating in support of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' actions against school integration.

Refused Stay of Legal Proceedings

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A lawyer's request for a stay in legal proceedings because the state Legislature technically is in special session was rejected yesterday by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

The lawyer, state Sen. Guy H. Tones of Conway, contended that state law entitles him to a postponement of trial of a case in which he represents a plaintiff while the Legislature is in session.

The court did not elaborate on its denial.

The Legislature was called into session by Gov. Orval E. Faubus to enact anti-integration legislation. It remains in session subject to call until Jan. 10, even though most of the lawmakers have left the capital.

sheriff said, "I ought to go on back to town, like she told me to do, but I hate to leave without finding out something definite. Got an extra pallet in the bunkhouse?"

"Got three of them," Lane said. "Tomorrow," Cole said, after a moment, "maybe I can talk Irma into riding into town with me and getting married private. Wish we had planned it that way now."

Voucher Brings a Message

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—"Congratulations. Little Rock, Russia Loves You," the message read. It was penciled on a canceled warrant (pay voucher) against the State of Arkansas.

State Treasurer J. Vance Clayton said the warrant was issued to a welfare employee in Paragould and had been processed through banks in Paragould and Kansas City.

Clayton said the notation apparently was added in Kansas City.
